“It wasn’t long ago that I was sending weekly emails with COVID updates and new protocols, and you may have noticed that the communications have gotten quieter. This is one of those times when no news is good news. The Jubilee community has settled into our new routines with masks, outdoor visiting, virtual connections, and amateur haircuts. Our precautions continue to work. Jubilee has had no new COVID cases since early May, and even the warning signs of possible exposures (which we always take seriously) have become less frequent. With that said, we remain vigilant and continue to limit interactions that could spread an unseen infection. You can read our current COVID Protocols (last updated July 20, 2020) on our website. We’re confident that we’ve done the right thing to adopt strict safety measures, and I want to thank each of you who continue to diligently and carefully do your part to keep us all safe.”
